

1.17 The committee has not yet formed a concluded view in relation to this matter. It considers further information is required to assess the human rights implications of these government amendments, and as such seeks the minister's advice as to the matters set out at paragraph [1.13].